AN ADDRESS
FOR WORLD LEADERS,
ROYALTY, FILM STARS
AND MUSIC LEGENDS
ON THE SHORES OF RAS AL KHAIMAH.

1893-1929

THE CREATION OF A LEGEND

Conceived by New York aristocrat William Waldorf Astor, the original Waldorf Hotel opened on 33rd Street and Fifth Avenue in 1893. Four years later, William's cousin and familial rival, John Jacob Astor IV, constructed the markedly larger Astoria Hotel next door. Eventually, the two hotels were joined, creating the largest hotel in the world.

The lavish establishment became renowned for its elaborate balls and unrivaled service, attracting financiers, dignitaries and New York's social elite. In 1929, it was razed to make way for the Empire State Building.

A grander Waldorf Astoria was already rising a few blocks uptown on Park Avenue.

1935-1963

A PALACE IN NEW YORK

From Frank Sinatra to Marilyn Monroe, celebrities flocked to New York's palace. The Waldorf Astoria hosted legendary events such as the engagement party of Prince Rainier III and Grace Kelly, John F. Kennedy's birthday gala, the April in Paris Ball and a special address by Queen Elizabeth II.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor made the Waldorf Astoria their home after the Duke abdicated the throne of the United Kingdom.
